“Emotional Education for Today’s Challenging Times”

Jill Molli, nationally known speaker and educator, will present Conscious Discipline. She will lead elementary administrators through a comprehensive social-emotional program that empowers leaders to respond with wisdom during conflict situations. Jill Molli will present new techniques for teaching self-control, conflict resolution, character development, and social skills. This brain-based approach blends the latest research in neuroscience, academic instruction, and behavioral psychology to demonstrate that fear and punishment is not a successful long-term motivator for learning. Jill Molli teaches a model for schoolwide success that relies on safety, connection, and problem solving as the foundation for higher-level thinking.
