Medication Administration in Schools: What You Need to Know - Description: Since the North Dakota state statute 15.1-19-23 regarding medication administration in schools became effective in 2012, schools across ND have struggled to understand what it means for them. This session will guide you through what this means for your school and how you can implement best practices in order to deliver medications safely. It will also provide information on who can train school staff, how this training can take place and what the ND Dept. of Health is doing to aid schools in the training process. Other key points that will be covered include: opting out of medication administration; federal mandates (504 plans and IEP’s); differences between emergency medications versus other medications; and liability for school staff who administer medications.
  • Renae Risk, State School Nurse Consultant, ND Dept. of Health - Room 3130

3:00 pm Student Data Privacy - Student data privacy has been getting lots of attention in ND and across the country. What roles and responsibilities will school administrators and staff have under the new laws? How can parent concerns and expectations be addressed? This session will help you understand acronyms and policies, develop common language among your stakeholders and use online resources to better facilitate student data privacy in your school
  • Jody French, NDETC Dir.; Rob Kaspari, EduTech Dir.; Jane Hovda, PowerSchool Mgr. - Patterson

Thursday ESAND Session Speaker

Cindy Solberg is certified to deliver courses within the learning systems of Development Dimensions International (DDI) and has earned the designation of DDI facilitator. In addition to training “by the book” Cindy offers practical tips and tricks from her own extensive hands-on skill set. Combining her practical know-how with over thirteen years of training experience, Cindy shares her knowledge with a no-nonsense, practical and “user friendly” approach.

Cindy is also a software specialist with extensive hands-on, real world software knowledge. She has been certified by Microsoft as a Microsoft Office Specialist. Cindy was recently named a winner in Microsoft’s “Create a Spark” PowerPoint design contest.

Thursday Afternoon Keynote Speaker

John O’Sullivan is an internationally known speaker for coaches, parents and youth sports organizations, and has spoken for TEDs, the National Soccer Coaches Association of America, IMG Academy, and at numerous other events throughout the US, Canada and Europe. When he speaks, John brings to the table a wealth of practical, hands on knowledge garnered through years of working with players and their families on sport specific development, fitness and nutrition, college recruiting, and most importantly, training high-performing athletes by creating a player-centered environment.

Friday Morning Closing Keynote Speaker

John Beede is a worldwide adventure icon and has reached his lifelong dream of climbing to the summit of Mount Everest. His presentation includes:

- Incredible Adventures: Edge-of-your-seat climbing and adventure stories make John's speeches wickedly entertaining.
- Audience Interaction: A great presentation is a conversation, not a discourse! You will be laughing, calling back, and involved.
- Side-Splitting Humor: Many tears of laughter shed... audience members have literally fallen out of their chairs laughing!
- Everest-Level Success: The goal-setting, high performance, and leadership messages John will bring are life changing.
